

What is Animal Rescue in Nebraska?

In Nebraska, animal rescue volunteers have been, collectively, saving homeless pets from cruelty, neglect, disasters and unnecessary euthanasia for over 30 years. Animal rescuers are dedicated to helping the animals that are either waiting for a home in foster care or will live out their lives in sanctuary. Often, animal rescue is the only group that can take an animal from a bad situation and provide them with restorative and rehabilitative care. State-licensed rescues are inspected and pay an annual fee to maintain their status. Our groups attend public events to further our mission and to encourage families to adopt their animals through rescues, shelters and humane societies. We provide public education regarding the consequences of over breeding and the benefits of spaying or neutering. Many of our rescues even offer low-cost spay/neuter programs.

There are dozens of rescues in Nebraska working diligently to save the lives of dogs, cats, horses, birds, reptiles, and more! We are located throughout the State, working with shelters, humane societies and animal control agencies to save as many lives as possible.

Many of our groups specialize in training to assist families in dealing with behavioral issues and are often called upon to help in re-homing when an environment is no longer suitable for a specific animal. For a list
